WRITING

Nowadays, people shop to satisfy their needs. Some people prefer to do it online, while others choose to go to the store. For comfort, we were provided with a diagram of how people most often make their purchases.

For example, the biggest difference between this and that method can be seen in purchasing groceries. Most people choose to buy groceries in a store. The smallest "online" indicator is grocery shopping. And the biggest thing is buying books, movies, music, games. "In-store" everything is exactly the opposite.

I prefer, for example, to buy groceries in a store. After all, you can see the condition of this product with your own eyes and choose according to your taste. But I most often buy clothes and footwear from online stores, because it's fast, you can buy it at home and it's profitable. Usually prices are cheaper in online stores. But I don't buy books, but read online.

In conclusion, I want to say that a person himself chooses how to make purchases. Each method has its own advantages and disadvantages.
